A MESSAGE FROM PASTOR KYLE

On this Mother’s Day, I wanted to share something that my mother taught me. She taught me that love is physical and real. She taught me through her actions that to love someone means to show up. She taught me that love is not just something that is given passive thought and put into a bottle to stare at on a shelf. Love looks like a hug after a breakup or the loss of a loved one. Love looks like showing up to a soccer game that I most likely won’t even play. Love looks like helping to do my science fair and history fair projects the night prior. Love looks like cooking chicken fried steak for my birthday every year for probably 10 years, even though it stunk up the house every time. She showed me that love shows up and oftentimes means we sacrifice something. But love is worth it every single time. And this is how God loves us.

So, this Mother’s Day, I hope you will join me in celebrating those people who filled the spot of “mother” in our lives. And this can be anyone who fills the spot of caring for us, raising us, teaching us, and growing us. This Sunday is meant to remind us of someone important in our lives. So this morning we thank all the mothers we have had in our lives. Those who were our actual mothers and those who were mothers to us by either being our guardian or by function.

Happy Mother’s Day!
