

Ball Camp Baptist Church Cemetery

The Ball Camp Baptist Church Cemetery is located on land initially owned by William Morris. William and his brother Joseph came to Tennessee from North Carolina and settled on a farm on Middlebrook Pike in the early 1800s. He was very active in the Ball Camp community and became a member of the Beaver Ridge Baptist Church (later to become Ball Camp Baptist Church) where he served as clerk and deacon. On December 4, 1841, he transferred four acres and eleven rods of property “on the waters of Plumb Creek with the brick church thereon” to Reuben Walker and the deacons of the church for $1. This land included the current cemetery as well as the current location of the church. Geraldine Jennings, a current member of Ball Camp Baptist Church, is a descendent of William Morris.

The date that the cemetery was founded is unknown but it has existed at least since the 1840s. The tombstone with the oldest date of death belongs to Mary Mourfield whose death date is indicated in 1817. According to the tombstone, she was a native of Kentucky and cousin of another Mourfield (possibly W. or William Mourfield who is also buried in the cemetery). It is possible that she died in 1847 and the engraving on the tombstone was not completed. There appears to be a small line in the middle of the second “1” in 1817. The next to oldest known grave in the cemetery is Margaret Walker who died in 1842. According to a write-up by Mary Martin (former church historian), there was a rock in the cemetery that said “Couch – first here about 1840” that may also be the first tombstone but this stone was not found when mapping the cemetery in 2025.

The cemetery has several graves of persons pertinent to the church in the 1800s. William Morris who donated the land is buried there as well as Reuben Walker who was on the building committee for the fourth clapboard church building and was deeded the land as the church representative. Thomas Weaver and Joel Calloway Morris who were on the Ways and Means Committee to build the clapboard building are buried there. Thomas Weaver also served as assistance superintendent of the Sunday School and Joel Calloway Morris was the “Second Bible Class” teacher. Nancy Morris who served as a Sunday School teacher and taught the “Second Testament Class” is buried there as well as J.H. Cox who was the “First Bible Class” teacher. The Morris family and the Callaway and/or Calloway family have the most known graves in the cemetery. The cemetery also contains the graves of at least 23 veterans including those that served in the War of 1812, Civil War (both Confederate and Union), World War I, and World War II.

Some of the more recent leaders of the church buried in the cemetery include Ernie Jennings (1941- 2024) whose wife is Geraldine Jennings mentioned previously. Ernie was a long-time deacon of the church and served as a trustee of the cemetery and later on the Cemetery Committee. Charles (Gibby) Lethgo (1921 – 1984) also served as a trustee of the cemetery and Sandra Schmidt (1946 – 2010) served several years as the church librarian.

In 1979, Reverend Leonard Markham (the pastor of the church at that time) realized the cemetery was not being maintained properly. He sent out a letter to the church members inviting them to attend a meeting to discuss the cemetery and its upkeep. Following that meeting, several people were elected to serve as Cemetery Trustees and the Ball Camp Memorial Cemetery Trust was established on April 28, 1980 to pay for the care of the cemetery. The Trustees were Joe Yarnell (president), Kenneth Cox (secretary and treasurer), Mary Martin (assistant secretary and treasurer), John B. Baker, Ernie Jennings, James T. Foust, Charles (Gibby) Lethgo, and Malcolm Williams. In addition, these Trustees established by-laws for the cemetery. The church set a goal of $10,000 and a letter was sent out to the church by Rev. Markham requesting donations. By April 1981, $4,114.32 had been raised. By February 1982, the fund had grown to $6,773.28. The initial goal was reached by 1984. However, due to falling interest rates, an additional amount of funds was required. Rev. William Hild, Jr. (the pastor of the church at that time) sent out a letter on February 22, 1984 asking members to raise an additional $4000 for the fund. In February 1996, the church received a contribution of $25,000 from the estate of Carrie Lou Baker Satterfield to the Cemetery Trust in memory of Ray Morgan Satterfield and Carrie Lou Baker Satterfield. Mrs. Satterfield did this because her parents, Alfred W. Baker and Effie Jane Norman, are buried in the cemetery. This endowment is still used for the upkeep of the cemetery.

On February 10, 1997 the Cemetery Trustees met and decided to make a motion to transfer the Ball Camp Memorial Cemetery Trust to the trustees of Ball Camp Baptist Church and abolish the Cemetery by-laws established in April 1980 and let the governance of the Trust fall under the church by-laws. This motion was approved by the church. Later, under the auspices of the Ball Camp Church Constitution and By-laws, the trust was placed under the authority of the church's Endowment Committee and a Cemetery Committee was formed to oversee the operation, maintenance, and records of the cemetery.

Below is a table of persons buried in the Ball Camp Baptist Church Cemetery in alphabetical order by last name or those that have purchased a tombstone that is already in place. The names with an asterisk are veterans. Each name is hyperlinked to a page on the "Find A Grave" website which has information regarding that person and pictures of the tombstone if found. Those without a hyperlink were listed on previous lists of those buried within the cemetery but their tombstones were not found and no further information was available or they have not yet passed away. A location is listed for each person whose tombstone was located. These locations are shown on overhead photos of the cemetery (Figures 2 – 5). To make it easier to find these locations, the cemetery was divided into three zones: A, B, and C. An overhead photo showing the location of each of these zones is also included in Figure 1. As shown in this figure, Zone A is next to Ball Camp Byington-Solway Road and C is at the top of the hill. Whereas B is located between A and C.
